Why don't the Girls propose?

A LEAF-YEAR LYRIC.

Why don't the Girls propose, O, say?
I wish they would begin!
I've dined my Sunday suit each day
Since the New Year came in.
I've trained my new mustache with care,
And sent them many a rose,
And smiled at every passing fair—
But still they don't propose!

I've waited patiently and long
These three years past in vain,
But now I fear there's something wrong,
For Leap Year's come again;
And not a single offer yet,
To soothe my many woes;
Oh, dear! my heart goes pit-a-pat—
Why don't the girls propose?

It's not that I have never tried
My luck at Cupid's game,
That I'm single till abie,
But I have missed my aim;
And still the arrow bounded back
To give my heart new throes—
'Tis ever my confounded luck—
Why don't the girls propose?

But I have made a desperate vow
To say no lady "nay";
This only hope is left me now,
To shed one lingering tear;
The girls alike agree to this,
That I'm the best of men—
This compliment to me what bliss,
If they would but propose!

I wish the papers would agree,
Not let the matter lag,
The Transcript, Mail, and Times, and Bee,
And then the Carpetbag;
No lady's heart could then remain
As cold as water and ice;
And we poor bachelors should gain,
For then they would propose!

Tipsy Conclusions.

Out of the tavern I've just stepped to-night;
Street! you are caught in a very bad plight;
Right hand and left hand you're both out of place;
Street, you are drunk—'tis a very clear case!

Moss—'tis a very queer figure you cut—
One eye is staring wide and the other is shut;
Tipsy, I see, and you're greatly to blame—
Old as you are, 'tis a horrible shame!

Then the street lamp! what a scandalous sight!
None of them soberly standing upright;
Rocking and staggering—why, on my word,
Each of the lamps is as drunk as a lord!

All in confusion—now isn't it odd?
Nothing is sober that I see abroad;
Sure it was rash with this crew to remain;
Better not go to the tavern again!

Brevities.

WHEN I WAS A BOY.
I remember, I remember,
The first tree dark and high;
I used to think their slender spires
Were close against the sky.
It was a childish ignorance,
But now 'tis little joy,
To know I'm farther off from heaven
Than when I was a boy.

THE KOBRETH HAT.
An emblem on a carriage door
Reveals the owner's caste,
And motto serves one to explore
The inmate's native taste.
So, Yankee hats in Magyar hats,
With plume and brim and soft,
Proclaims there's something else that's flat,
A weak-constructed loft.

I'M OF THE PRESS.
I'm of the Press—I'm of the Press!
My host, embattled types;
With them I quell the tyrant herds,
And rear the stars and stripes;
I give my hand to all my race,
My altar, Freedom's sod;
I say my say, and hand my knee
Alone, alone to God.

WOMAN'S LOVE.
Like the luster of the dawn,
Or the dew of early morn;
Like the firmament on high—
Ancient as the changeful eye;
Faithful as the polar gem,
Peerless as the diadem—
Such is Woman's Love!

Our lands now are broad enough—don't be alarmed.
For Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all a farm.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Democratic Convention in Downingville, in the State of Maine,
To choose a Delegate to the Baltimore Convention, and to decide on the Presidency.

DOWNINGVILLE, STATE OF MAINE, February 9, 1852.

The following notice was posted up bright and early yesterday morning, on the meeting house, and on the centre school house, and on Bill Johnson's store:

"NOTICE—DEMOCRATS AROUSE!

The Democrats of Downingville, with-out distinction of party, are requested to meet at the centre school-house to-morrow evening, Feb. 9, at 7 o'clock, to settle the question about the next Presidency, and choose a Delegate to the Baltimore Convention. The county expects every Democrat to do his duty, and the whole Democracy of all parties is especially invited to attend. The interest of the country and the Democratic party is at stake. Therefore come one, come all. And it is expected that every true Democrat will leave all party prejudice at home.

BY ORDER OF THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE."

Pursuant to the above notice, the largest and most respectable Democratic meeting ever held in Downingville, assembled at 7 o'clock, and filled the school-house chock full.

JOSHUA DOWNING, Esq., Postmaster, (Uncle Joshua), was unanimously appointed chairman, and Mr. Seth Sides, (schoolmaster), was chosen secretary. Uncle Joshua took the chair amid the cheers of the meeting. He's always been chairman of the Democracy, this thirty years. So he knew what he had to depend upon, and came prepared for it. Aunt Kestah had combed his hair all down smooth, and he wore his fur hat and go-to-meetin coat. The chairman put on his spectacles and read the notice calling the meeting, and says: "Gentlemen and fellow-Democrats, the important business we have before us seems to be to settle the question about the next Presidency, and choose a Delegate to Baltimore. As there is two branches to the business, which shall we take hold of first?"

DOCTOR BRIGGS. I move that we take the question of the Presidency first, as that comes first in the notice, and I take it that is the main question.

CHAIRMAN. If that is your minds, gentlemen, you will please—

Bill Johnson. (In a sharp loud voice.) Hold on, there, Squire, or Mr. Chairman, I should say; don't put that ere question yet, for I've got something to say first. I don't think that would be the best way to go to work. I've no notion of taking hold of the poker at the end. Let us go to work and choose a Delegate first, while we are cool, and into the Presidency afterwards. We are all quiet and unanimous now, and it is the largest meeting of the Democracy that we've ever had since Old Hickory's second term. It looks as if the good Old Hickory time was coming back again, and the Democracy of the country will once more be on its legs. Now, I say, seeing we've got into a little clear smooth water, don't let us rile it. The next Presidency is a ticklish question, and if we begin to stir it, may be it'll be hard work to see bottom. Therefore, Squire, I move that we begin our work 'till we end foremost; and I move that we choose Major Jack Downing for our Delegate to Baltimore.

CHAIRMAN. If that is your minds, gentlemen, you will please—

Solomon Jones. (trader at the upper corner, and natural enemy to Bill Johnson, trader at the lower corner.) Mr. Chairman, that motion won't pass. I didn't come here to be ketch'd in an Abolition trap, and I won't be if I can help it. I don't want no underhand work, and I shant take a step on the road till I can read on the guide-board where it's going to. Before we choose a Delegate I want to know what he's going to do. Let the work be chalked out beforehand, and then choose the best man to do it. I'm a Democrat of the Jackson stamp, but I ain't no Abolitionist. I always went for Jackson, and will always go for his successors as long as they follow in his footsteps. I always went for Van Buren as long as he followed in Jackson's footsteps, but when he turned Abolitionist I don't go for him nor his son John neither.

Bill Johnson. Squire, I wish you to put my question, to choose Major Downing delegate to Baltimore. If we cant trust him as a good Jackson Democrat, there isn't a man in the United States that we can trust. He was always the Old General's right hand man. And as for the Abolition traps, I wish Mr. Jones' store was as free from rum-traps and gin traps, as I am from Abolition traps.

Solomon Jones. Mr. Chairman, I call the gentleman to order. I want to know, before he goes any further, whether this is a Temperance meeting or a Democratic meeting.

Bill Johnson. It is as much of a Temperance meeting as it is an Abolition meeting. If Mr. Jones brings in Abolition, I've just as good a right to bring in Temperance. And as for traps, sir, if the gentleman undertakes to talk about Abolition traps, I'll let him know that the war can be carried into Africa. Yes, sir, the boot is decidedly on 'tother leg. The traps is all on 'tother side, sir, all on the slavery side. I'm a good Jackson Democrat, but I've no notion of being caught in a slavery trap. And that's why I want to send a delegate to Baltimore that we can depend upon; such as Major Downing; one that'll keep us out of the slavery trap. For I tell you, sir, the South has got the slavery trap set all

"WE SHALL ALWAYS BE VICTORIOUS WHEN WE ALL PULL TOGETHER!"

DANVILLE, KY., FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 12, 1852.

THE WAY SHE TURNED HIM.

The most bigoted and unreasonable party man I ever met with was Jack D., a prosperous and influential attorney in S— county in this State.

At the hour of which I am writing, he was a red-hot Democrat, and his chief pleasures seemed to consist in making the facts as notorious as possible to the world.

Such was Jack D. at the time of our story, acknowledged on every side as a firm and incorruptible Democrat. But alas! let us, however, not anticipate—but to our story. One unlucky day, Jack met at the house of a friend a young lady of great personal beauty and accomplishments. Attracted by her loveliness, and captivated by her intelligence, he became assiduous in attention, forgot his "principles" and without inquiring what might be the political preference of his "lady love," imprudently proposed, was accepted, and they were married.

The wedding was over, the guests had departed, and they had retired to their chamber, and were snugly ensconced in bed, when Jack, in the course of a quiet conversation with his wife, unwittingly alluded to his favorite subject, by casually speaking of himself as being a Democrat.

"What!" exclaimed she, turning sharply and suddenly toward him, "are you a Democrat?"

"Yes, madam," replied Jack, delighted with the idea of having a patient listener to his long restrained oratory. "Yes, madam, I am a Democrat, attached to the principles of the great progressive party; a regular out and outer, double dyed and twisted in the wool."

"Just double twist yourself out of this bed then," interrupted his wife. "I am a Whig, I am, and I never will sleep with any man professing the abominable doctrines you do."

Jack was speechless from absolute amazement. That the very wife of his bosom should prove a traitor was horrible—she must be jesting. He remonstrated—in vain—tried persuasion—twas useless—entreaty—twas no go. She was in sober earnest, and the only alternative left him was a prompt renunciation of his heresy, or a separate bed in another room.

Jack did not hesitate. To adjure the great and established doctrines of his party, to renounce his allegiance to that faith that had become identified with his very being, to the mere whim and caprice of a woman, was utterly ridiculous and absurd and he threw himself from the bed and prepared to quit the room.

As he was leaving the room, his wife, screamed out to him, "I say, my dear, when you recant your heresy and repent past errors, just knock at my door, and perhaps I will let you in."

The door was violently slammed, and Jack proceeded wrathfully in quest of another apartment.

A sense of insulted dignity, and a firm conviction that he was a martyr in the "right cause," strengthened his pride and resolved to hold out until he forced his wife into a capitulation.

In the morning she met him as if nothing had happened, but whenever Jack view it as very important we should have a fair understanding of it, for it is the vital principle of the party, and without it we can't hold together. In the old General's time, if my memory serves me right, we had three principles to go by; one was the Bank, and one was the Tariff, and the other was Internal Improvement. That is to say, then, was the Whig principles and the Democratic principle was to fight agin the three Whig principles. And as long as we stuck to that we beat and got the offices. But the science of politics has advanced a good deal in these latter years since the General's time and so many new principles are crowded in, helter skelter that we get kind of confused and mixed up. I don't think they do any good. Some of these new principles instead of holding us together seem to be pretty likely to blow us a part like gunpowder. By the good old Jackson principles wot 'tother way; they hold us together like wax, and give us the offices. Therefore I think we may safely say we go again Internal Improvements. And I think our Delegate to Baltimore should be instructed to stand on that platform.

Bill Johnson. I move that we amend that platform by adding that we go again slavery.

Solomon Jones. I move, Mr. Chairman, that we amend it by adding we go agin abolition.

Sargent Joel. I move that we amend it by adding that we go agin Russia.

Chairman. Shall we put the question on the platform with these amendments added to it?

Deacon Snow. Mr. Chairman, if these amendments are added, I think there's a number of other amendments that ought to be added besides, particularly the neutrality doctrine of Washington. Therefore I move we adjourn the meeting for one week, and that the whole subject be referred to a committee to be appointed by the Chairman, and that they report to the next meeting a Democratic platform containing all the sound simon pura Democratic principles.

ventured to allude to the rupture of the night previous, there was a "laughing devil" in her eye which bespoke a power, and extinguished hope. A second time he repaired to his lonely couch, and a second time he called up his pride to support him in the struggle which he now found was getting desperate.

The second day was a repetition of the first—no allusion was made to the forbidden subject on either side. There was a look of quiet happiness and cheerfulness about his wife that puzzled Jack sorely, and he felt that all idea of forcing her into a surrender must be abandoned.

A third night he was alone with his thoughts. His reflections were more serious and composed than on the night previous. What they were, of course were known to himself but they seemed to result in something decided, for about midnight three distinct raps were made at his wife's door. No answer, and the signal was repeated in a louder tone still all was silent; and a third time the door shook with violent attacks from the outside.

"Who's there?" cried the voice of his wife, as if just aroused from a deep sleep.

"It's me, my dear, and perhaps a little the best Whig you ever did see!"

The revolution in his opinions was radical and permanent. He removed to another county, became popular, offered himself as a candidate on the Whig ticket for the Legislature, was elected, and for several sessions represented his adopted county as a firm and decided Whig.

Two comedians having laid a wager as to which of them sang the best, they agreed to refer it to Kelley, who undertook to be arbitrator on this occasion. A day was accordingly agreed upon, and both parties executed to the best of their abilities before him. As soon as they had finished, he proceeded to give judgment in the following manner:

"As for you, sir, addressing himself to the first, 'you are the worst singer I ever heard in my life.'

"Ah," said the other, exultingly, "I knew I should win my wager."

"Stop, sir," said the arbitrator, 'I have a word to say to you before you go, which is this, that as for you, you cannot sing at all.'

Uncle Zeb always backed a friend in any emergency. He happened once to attend a prayer meeting with an acquaintance who followed the most effective exhorter in the congregation. Zeb saw that his friend was becoming excited, and though in his worldly mindedness that he was trying to despoil the other brother of his laurels. He therefore tapped his friend's shoulder gently, and whispered, "go it old hoss; your can beat him!"

"Well, capin," said Ben, wiping his mouth with the nether end of his shining coat sleeve, "Ise berry dry, so I won't be ug'y' bout it. Some niggers is too proud to drink wid a milshy ossifer but I think a milshy ossifer—when nobber—is just as good as a nigger—specially if de nigger's dry."

D. A. He hopes all will once see the necessity and expediency of this, and attend to it promptly.

THE CHOLERA.—A gentleman of professional honor, in order to prove that he could procure brandy of a strictly temperate landlady, at a fashionable resort, assumed the symptoms of cholera, and with expressive sighs and groans, called to her for brandy. "Brandy!" she exclaimed, "I have none." "What none?" for puddings and pies?" exclaimed the honorable sufferer. "None," replied the heroine; "my puddings and pies never have the cholera!"

Mr. Fillmore in New York.—The New York Express (good authority) says, in reply to the oft-repeated remark of Gen. Scott's friends, that "Mr. Fillmore cannot carry New York." "We say to our Southern and Western Whig friends, that New York is just as safe for Mr. Fillmore as for any Whig likely to be put up; and that Mr. Fillmore can carry the State if he is joined against three, at least of the gentlemen who are prominent Democratic candidates. We do not say this because Mr. Fillmore is thought of to be a candidate, but because we do not mean to see an old, tried, true, gallant, eminent Whig trampled down or prostrated down. Mr. Fillmore has done well by us Whigs, and better yet by the country, and he is to have an honorable discharge—if discharge at all—never to be kicked off with impunity. The thing must be done gracefully and gently, if it is done for a pure man never directed and a firm hand never held the reins of government. He has restored the better days and the better principles of the Republic, amid threats and dangers that would have appalled or crushed a weaker man. He became the President in the midst of perils, and in the face of sectional excitement that jeopardized the very existence of the nation, and that were plunging it directly into civil war. The first week of his administration he had to change and create a Cabinet, and fix its policy, and tell Texas, by solemn proclamation, with the whole power of the United States army concentrating then by order in New Mexico, that if Texas in arms trampled upon a foot of her soil, she would be resisted by the whole power and force of the United States Government. The energy, the solemn, sincere character of that proclamation, halted the legions of Texas, then to actual organization for the march. But, though thus threatening, opening, nay, almost ripe, upon the South, he was not for a moment his duty as to carry on the Government, or his duty to carry on the Constitution, in the spirit of the Constitution. He encouraged the settlement of the frightful slavery and anti-slavery issues; he lent the sanction of his influence and the influence of the position for the settlement, and he approved the laws passed for the settlement. These laws he has executed in good faith, as by his oath he was bound to do, and under his Administration there is arising a general acquiescence in measures which are now likely to last as long as the Constitution is worth preserving."

The New York Tribune reviews the prospects of the Baltimore candidates for the Presidency. Gen. Lane, it thinks, "has subsided." General Wool is "no where." D. S. Dickinson "is a follower of Gen. Cass." H. S. Foote "will decline should any one be fool enough to propose him for that office." Woodbury and McDowell are removed by death.—Col. Allen, of Ohio, "is finished." Gov. Marcy's chance "is a slim one." Buchanan's prospect, "not quite so fulsome, is also a poor one." Houston has a chance in but one free State, and a poor one there. The Tribune continues:

"Gen. Butler has a chance in the final struggle, presuming that Gov. Marcy shall maintain his position, and that he shall not be foisted in the Baltimore caucus, we anticipate that the main struggle will probably be between the friends of Gen. Cass and Judge Douglas respectively. Gen. Cass will go into Convention with a decided plurality of the votes, but not enough to nominate him under the two-third rule, which has become a part of the Baltimore Platform. We apprehend that Gen. Cass will not receive the nomination after the first ballot, while that of the 'Little Giant' will do so. Whether the latter will or will not be nominated, we do not predict, but chance seems now equal to that of any rival, though he will only have fifty or sixty votes on the first ballot."

Brownlow on Scott.—Parson Brownlow seems not to have a very exalted opinion of Gen. Scott, good-humoredly called "Old Fuss and Feathers." We cannot agree entirely with the Parson, but we admire his spunk. Hear what he says:

"I am an humble member of the party, and will support in good faith, either Mr. Scott or Mr. Fremont; but I will never support Scott directly or indirectly, though he may receive the endorsement of all the Whig conventions which may assemble between here and heaven, and to receive this and November next. He has personal vanity enough to damn seven successive Administrations, and with it very poor civil qualifications, and by no means a high order of talents."

Democratic Troubles.—Mr. Grund, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, and a democrat, in a recent letter, says: "The politicians are at logger heads in Virginia, and the fight between Douglas and Buchanan is going on at a great rate." Mr. Henry A. Wise has come here to aid in marshaling the Buchanan forces, but the Old Dominion cannot be driven."

A dispatch from Washington, of the 13th inst., also gives a gloomy account of the "harmonious democracy." It says: "The Democratic troubles are increasing on account of the caucus pointing which appears to be the great stumbling block to the restoration of harmony."

OWING to the death of one of the firm, the following Valuable Property is offered for sale, to-wit:

A FARM, in the county of Russell, Ky., containing about 1200 Acres; 800 of which is a rich River Bottom Land as any in the State, and in a good state of cultivation. There are no better Lanes in the State for Corn and Clover, between 2000 & 3000 barrels of Corn was raised upon the Farm in 1851—30 Acres were fattened upon the Farm in 1851—30 Acres from the products of the Farm. It is well watered by many never-failing Springs. 400 Acres of the Land is up Land, well timbered.

A Large Brick Steam Distillery,
Capable of making 3 Barrels of Whiskey per day, the whole year. There is an abundance of Cold Spring Water to run the Distillery the driest time ever known in Kentucky, and a ready market, at a fair price, for all the Whiskey that can possibly be made. And there is perhaps no place in Kentucky where Corn can be procured so cheap, and as conveniently for a Distillery, as at this point, the River affording ample facilities for the transportation of both Corn and Whiskey. Steamboats pass all the property from six to eight miles of the year.

Attached to the Distillery is a Large Steam Saw and Grist Mill. Built in 1850. The Machinery is new with all the latest improvements, and in complete order—the slabs and saw-logs being sufficient fuel to run both Mills at the same time. The Mill is surrounded by inexhaustible quantities of fine Poplar, Pine and Walnut timber as there is in the State. The River affording facilities for floating Timber to the Mill, and the Lumber being in great demand.

The property will all be sold together—or the Mills and Distillery will be sold separately from the Farm. $15,000 will buy the whole property. Possession given to the Mills and Distillery at any time after the first day of January, 1852, and to the Farm the first day of January, 1853. SOMETHING NEW!
An Argument in favor of Home Manufacture!

THE subscriber has now on hand a large and fine assortment of which he proposes to sell on reasonable terms, and which will be guaranteed to be the best MATERIAL, STYLE AND FINISH! There has been some objection urged to buying Furniture in Danville, on account of the difference in price between the article manufactured here and that gotten up in larger cities. An exposure of the facts of the case will generally be brought home, while a good article commands a fair Price everywhere! In almost every case, what is made in reduction of price, is somewhere lost in quality.
FURNITURE,

My present stock embraces almost everything in the line which can be called for, and I am constantly manufacturing; so that my article which may not be found in my Ware-rooms, will be made to order.

On short notice, I employ none but the best workmen, and use none but the best materials. The citizens of Danville and the surrounding country are invited to call, examine my Furniture, and learn my prices before leaving home to make their purchases, as I am confident I can sell GOOD FURNITURE on as favorable terms as the same can be had elsewhere.

THE TRIBUNE.

DANVILLE, KY.:
FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 12, 1852.

For President in 1852,
MILLARD FILLMORE,
OF NEW YORK.

For Vice President,
JOHN J. CRITTENDEN,
OF KENTUCKY.

RAILROAD VOTE IN JESSAMINE.—On Saturday last, the 6th, the vote was taken in Jessamine county on the proposition for the county to subscribe $75,000 to the stock of the Danville and Lexington Railroad, and resulted as follows: For the tax, 516; against, 422—majority for the tax, 96. This places the construction of the road beyond all possible doubt, and the work will be prosecuted under more favorable auspices than any road that has ever been made in the Union. There is now almost enough stock subscribed to build the road, and furnish it with cars, locomotives, and everything else required. It is understood that the route will be located with the least possible delay, after which the whole line will be placed under contract immediately.

POETS.—We are always much pleased when we receive for publication, original poetry which contains any merit at all, but really the number of would-be poets is becoming alarmingly large. We have now on hand something like a barrel of poems in manuscript, the most of which we would only insert on the same terms as advertisements. The writers of course all regard their productions as perfect, and we may be regarded as exceedingly dull for not agreeing with them, but though "our souls" may be "full of poetry," we cannot read their effusions with the same spectacles as themselves.

We are indebted to Hon. W. T. Ward for public documents, and other favors.

Several new advertisements are unavoidably crowded out this week. They all shall certainly appear in our next.

It will be seen by referring to our Congressional proceedings, that on the 6th, in the House, the Senate bill granting land to Kentucky for an Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, was passed.

Our very obliging representative in Congress from this district, has our thanks for the suggestions contained in his late letter. We do not, however, entirely agree with the Major, although he may be altogether right. "We will see what we will see."

WILLIS VS. FORREST.—Willis has recovered $2,500 of Forrest for the cowardly assault which the latter committed on him.

The steamship Arctic arrived at New York on the 6th inst., with Liverpool dates to the 25th.

The only political news of importance brought by the Arctic, is the formation of a new Ministry in England, of which Lord Derby, formerly Lord Stanley, is Premier.

Our kind, witty, and talented neighbor of the Harrodsburg Ploughboy will please send us that grammar by the next stage. By the way, if he has not the change by him to pay for it, we'll "advance" and help him out.

CALIFORNIA SENATOR.—We are advised by late California dates, that the contest for U. S. Senator, which has been for some time pending in the Legislature of that State, is at length decided by the election of Col. Weller, (Loco), formerly of Ohio, and one of the most unprincipled demagogues that ever drew breath.

The Lexington Observer and Reporter of Wednesday last, says an effort was made on Tuesday morning to destroy by fire the Hemp Manufactory of Benj. Graze, Esq., in that city. By the discovery of the fire before it had got under headway, and the prompt exertions of a few persons who were close at hand, it was arrested and extinguished before any serious damage was done.

The war between the Benton and anti-Benton wings of the Loco party in Missouri, has opened most beautifully. A writer in the St. Louis Union, is arguing lustily for peace, and urges the Democracy to cease their warfare on Benton, and significantly says "with Thos. H. Benton falls the power of the Democratic party in Missouri!"

APPOINTMENT BY THE GOVERNOR.—Col. George Alfred Caldwell, of Louisville, to prepare a Code of practice for the Courts of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, in place of Hon. Preston S. Loughborough deceased.

We have not yet received a copy of the Louisville Times. Why?

GEN. SCOTT AND THE COMPROMISE.—The Louisville Journal says that Gen. Scott's endorsement of the compromise is within the personal knowledge of very many individuals, but the Whigs of the nation are not satisfied with that, nor should they be. They require, as a condition of their support of him for the Presidency, that he should make a declaration for the eye of the whole country.

The business of "tuning" the new Loco loco organ, the Times, at Louisville, has been very promptly and genteelly attended to by the editors of the Yeoman and Statesman. After they had finished their part of the work, its notes were in a much lower key, and we doubt whether it now aspires to be an "organ" at all or not.

The New York Tribune says: "It is stated on good authority that Gen. Scott can carry Kentucky by ten thousand majority, without any declaration on the compromise."

Nothing, in our humble judgement, could be much further from the truth than the above. Gen. Scott may be a warm supporter of the compromise, but there is no certainty about the matter. He has never expressed himself as such, and he cannot secure the Whig vote of Kentucky unless he does. The Whigs of Kentucky are true to the great principles and interests of their party, but they are on that account the more loyal to the patriotic measures which have effectively quelled agitation, and which, if carried into execution in future as they have been during the administration of President Fillmore, will be a blessing to the country during all time to come. No man who is opposed to these measures, or who lacks courage to express himself clearly and openly as favorable to them, need calculate on the support of Kentucky Whigs. This is merely our opinion, but if we are not right, we will be willing to acknowledge that we are no judge of the "signs of the times."

THE LAST OF THE TEA PARTY.—David Kennison, the last of the Boston Tea Party, died at Chicago, at the residence of Wm. Mack, on Wednesday morning of last week. His dying request was that the City Council would grant a lot in the city cemetery for his last resting place and erect a suitable monument over his grave. The council granted his request, and the military of Chicago were making preparation to give a fitting burial to the remains of the "old veteran of more than a hundred summers."

William Lloyd Garrison, the notorious Abolitionist, made a little speech at Albany, N. Y., last week, in which he endeavored to show that the scheme of African colonization was conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity, and that all its leaders were "liars" and deserved the fate of liars. Abused from such a source is high praise.

Kossuth left Louisville on Sunday morning last, for St. Louis. He was well treated while in Louisville but created very little excitement except among the Germans. The "material aid" he received there amounted to near $1,500.

The Louisville Daily Democrat comes to us considerably enlarged. The Democrat is a good paper, and well deserves the support of the party whose principles it advocates.

The Speeches of Kossuth since he left Turkey, after revision by the author, are to be comprised into a book, and published under the superintendence of the Hungarian Finance Committee of New York.

MALICIOUS.—The Cincinnati Adas, of the 21 inst., says: "Sometime during Sunday night, some person entered the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Kenton county, Ky., in Covington, and burnt in the stove nearly all the papers, executions, documents, &c., of the Court business. The value of the papers is estimated at $100,000. A reward of $2,000 is offered for the arrest of the person who committed the crime."

Notice has been given in the Ohio Legislature of a bill to prevent the further immigration and settlement of colored people within the State.

A fugitive slave named James, was arrested in New York last week, and under the Fugitive Slave Law was remanded to his master in Maryland, without any disturbance or difficulty—James expressed himself glad to get back.

The Democratic correspondent of the Baltimore Sun contradicts the report that Gen. Butler has expressed his willingness to run as Vice President with Mr. Buchanan. It is just "other way. He is willing to run with Gen. Cass again, but he will play second fiddle to no one else."

THE RUMOR.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot reiterates the rumor prevalent in that city, that Louis Napoleon is about to run a tilt against the country, and says:

The on dit is that he is dissatisfied with the cession of Louisiana by the Great Napoleon to Mr. Jefferson, and with the indemnity paid by Louis Philippe to Gen. Jackson; that he intends to rake open these old settlements and demand redress from the present Government of the United States.

Mr. Webster was to leave New York on Tuesday for Washington. The New York Times says:

He has received while here, interesting dispatches from France as well as from other European capitals; but there is no reason to suppose that his return to Washington is at all hastened by this fact. Mr. Webster is in the habit of despatching public business wherever he may be when it comes before him.

Hon. Henry Clay has been re-elected President of the American Colonization Society. Senator Underwood is among the Vice Presidents.

Jas. Barbour, Esq. President of the Lexington and Danville Railroad Company, together with W. C. Anderson and A. H. Seese, Esqs., left this place on Monday last, for Nashville, to attend the Railroad Convention to be held in that city. We will publish the full proceedings of the Convention as soon as we receive them.

HURRAH!—There are now twelve thousand marriageable girls in the city of Lowell Mass. Six hundred were married there last year and if the number does not increase more rapidly there will be a "right smart chance" for a "heap" of old maids in the next twenty years.

FAIRBANK.—The Louisville Journal of Tuesday says: The prisoners convicted at the late term of the criminal court will be taken to Frankfort to-morrow evening. They will be ironed in pairs. Col. Backner gave Fairbank the choice of a partner, and he selected the only negro in the crowd.

The Queen of Spain is so delighted at becoming a mother, that she has announced her increasing her family and forbidden her subjects to take the customary oath of allegiance to the first princess as she hopes to present the nation with a son shortly.

The following is communicated to us by a man of undoubted veracity, and we can vouch for its being strictly true:

A Miraculous Circumstance.
STAMFORD, March 5, 1852.
Messrs. Zimmerman—Mr. J. C. Short, who was on a fishing excursion, on this date, a short distance above Duderan's Mill, in Lincoln county, on Dix River, fell from the top of the cliff, which is supposed to be about ninety feet in height, and nearly perpendicular. When those who were with him reached him after his fall, and found him alive, they were of course much astonished. He, however, sustained but little injury, and is now walking about the streets.

The following letter from a citizen of Barren county to the President of the Lexington and Danville Railroad Company, we publish in order to correct an erroneous statement which we made last week on the authority of the telegraphic despatch referred to:

GLASGOW, Feb. 26, 1852.
Dear Sir—I perceive in the Louisville Courier of the 25th ult., a telegraphic despatch from this place, to the effect that at the recent Railroad Convention held here, a resolution giving countenance to the Railroad Convention proposed to be held at Nashville by the friends of the Danville and Nashville Railroad, was offered, and, after being discussed, was withdrawn, and that it would have been voted down. This conveys an erroneous impression, (unintentional, no doubt,) inasmuch as the objection to the resolution did not arise from any opposition to the Nashville Convention, (for we are all in favor of that, and desire to participate in it, and assist in furthering its objects,) but because it was thought inconsistent with the object of the convention held here, and the instructions of the delegates present from Sumner and Allen. They met here to delegate with reference to the Louisville and Nashville railroad and not the Lexington and Nashville road, and believed that action with reference to the Nashville Convention ought to originate in the several county meetings along the proposed line, which meetings will certainly be held and delegates appointed to attend said convention. Very respectfully,

DEATH OF MAJ. JOHN TILFORD.—The death of Maj. Telford President of the Northern bank of Kentucky, is thus announced in the Lexington Observer and Reporter of Saturday, 28th February. DIED, at his residence in this vicinity, on Tuesday night last, after a lingering illness of several weeks duration, Maj. John Telford. The deceased was one of our oldest and best citizens, and enjoyed to the fullest extent the confidence, respect and regard of the entire community. He was formerly a merchant in our city, and when the Northern Bank of Kentucky was incorporated, was called to its Presidency, the duties of which responsible and important position he continued to discharge in the most satisfactory manner until his death. The recollection of his many amiable qualities and genuine worth will be long treasured in the memory of his friends and relatives, who mourn his death as that of a man whose effort was directed to the perfect fulfillment of all his duties. His remains were followed to the grave on Thursday evening by the Masonic fraternity, and an immense concourse of sorrowing friends.

For the Kentucky Tribune.
MR. JOHN WALLIS.
SIR: Having ascertained that you are canvassing for a seat in the City Council, and that you expect to slip into office without having your claims and qualifications submitted, as heretofore, to the severest public scrutiny, we, citizens of Danville, and the properly constituted guardians of the public interest, do hereby call upon you, in the name of Liberty and popular rights, forthwith to announce yourself in due form a candidate, and to publish to the world a synopsis of your views upon all the great political questions of the day. Especially do we call upon you to make known your sentiments touching

Local Matters.
We are under obligations to Mr. R. A. WATTS, for a copy of Harper's Magazine for March, a supply of which he has just received and has for sale.
More Good Singing.—The Spencer Family, as will be seen by their advertisement, will visit our town, and give a concert on Saturday evening of next week. No company of vocalists has ever come to us more highly recommended, and our citizens will certainly miss a rich musical treat if they do not attend their concert. The Columbus Ohio State Journal says of their concert in that city, that "everybody was thrilled, elated and charmed by the rich singing of these unrivalled vocalists." They are undoubtedly "hard to beat," and we hope their audience here will be such as their merits deserve.
Who Wants a Suit of Clothes?—Those who do, cannot better supply themselves than by calling at the new Merchant Tailoring Establishment of OWINGS & VIRDEN, one door west of the Court House. They have just received their spring supply of goods suitable for gentlemen's wear, and being excellent practical workmen, they can make them up in the most superior and satisfactory manner, both as regards fit and workmanship. They can supply every article needed to furnish a gentleman's wardrobe, from a cloth coat to a standing collar. See advertisement, and give them a call.

Town Election.—The election for Trustees of the Town of Danville will be held on the first Saturday in April. The "canvass" is already commenced by naming candidates and calling for the opinions of others. This election is generally regarded as a small business, and many are of the opinion that almost any one will make a suitable Trustee. We beg leave to think differently. Men should be chosen who are public spirited enough to desire the improvement of the town, independent enough to pass any law that good order and sound morals may require, and prudent enough to attend to their duties with regularity and promptness. The office is one entirely of honor, but it is nevertheless important and responsible.

Fisticuffs has of late become quite a fashionable game in our usually quiet little city, and our Police Judge has had quite a "lively time of it" settling the "squabbles." Fortunately, no one has been seriously injured, the only weapons used being those which nature provided, but we hold that knee-down arguments should never be used so long as there is any likelihood of settling disputes in a more amicable manner. However, those who dance generally have the silder to pay, and such demonstrations of "Kentucky chivalry" always put a drop in the Town Treasury.

Acquitted.—We learn from the Louisville papers that Mr. Geo. W. TAYLOR, of this place, charged with shooting a man at the Louisville Theatre, was acquitted at the recent term of the Jefferson Criminal Court.

Our Town.—It is absolutely "out of the question" that those persons cannot be discovered who occasionally make a nightly descent, (or rather ascent, for they are near devils) upon our town, rendering night hideous with their savage-like whoopings, and disregarding the property of our citizens, destroying whatever they may think proper. They have made several enslavings during the past week, and we believe are yet entirely undiscovered. We hope, whoever these midnight prowlers may be, that they will soon be checked in their sport and punished as they deserve, and whenever found out, we will cheerfully publish their names, that all our citizens may know to whom they are indebted for their loss of sleep and their fears for the safety of their property.

"There's a chief among ye takin' notes, An' faith, he'll prent 'em."

MESSRS. EDITORS.
The following gentlemen are proposed as candidates for Town Trustees at the election to be held in April next: Albert G. Talbot, Clifton Rader, Thos. W. Jackson, Charles Ridgeway, Saml. P. Barbee, Henry H. Hamilton, R. W. Dunlap.

We are satisfied that the best interests of the town will be promoted by the election of the above named gentlemen as Trustees. Not only will the good order and peace of the town be secured, but the town debt, which is large, and the taxes, which are oppressive at this time, will be lessened.

MANY VOTERS.

Men should be chosen who are public spirited enough to desire the improvement of the town, independent enough to pass any law that good order and sound morals may require, and prudent enough to attend to their duties with regularity and promptness. The office is one entirely of honor, but it is nevertheless important and responsible.

Fisticuffs has of late become quite a fashionable game in our usually quiet little city, and our Police Judge has had quite a "lively time of it" settling the "squabbles." Fortunately, no one has been seriously injured, the only weapons used being those which nature provided, but we hold that knee-down arguments should never be used so long as there is any likelihood of settling disputes in a more amicable manner. However, those who dance generally have the silder to pay, and such demonstrations of "Kentucky chivalry" always put a drop in the Town Treasury.

Acquitted.—We learn from the Louisville papers that Mr. Geo. W. TAYLOR, of this place, charged with shooting a man at the Louisville Theatre, was acquitted at the recent term of the Jefferson Criminal Court.

Our Town.—It is absolutely "out of the question" that those persons cannot be discovered who occasionally make a nightly descent, (or rather ascent, for they are near devils) upon our town, rendering night hideous with their savage-like whoopings, and disregarding the property of our citizens, destroying whatever they may think proper. They have made several enslavings during the past week, and we believe are yet entirely undiscovered. We hope, whoever these midnight prowlers may be, that they will soon be checked in their sport and punished as they deserve, and whenever found out, we will cheerfully publish their names, that all our citizens may know to whom they are indebted for their loss of sleep and their fears for the safety of their property.

"There's a chief among ye takin' notes, An' faith, he'll prent 'em."

For the Kentucky Tribune.
MESSRS. EDITORS.
The following gentlemen are proposed as candidates for Town Trustees at the election to be held in April next: Albert G. Talbot, Clifton Rader, Thos. W. Jackson, Charles Ridgeway, Saml. P. Barbee, Henry H. Hamilton, R. W. Dunlap.

We are satisfied that the best interests of the town will be promoted by the election of the above named gentlemen as Trustees. Not only will the good order and peace of the town be secured, but the town debt, which is large, and the taxes, which are oppressive at this time, will be lessened.

MANY VOTERS.
For the Kentucky Tribune.

MR. JOHN WALLIS.
SIR: Having ascertained that you are canvassing for a seat in the City Council, and that you expect to slip into office without having your claims and qualifications submitted, as heretofore, to the severest public scrutiny, we, citizens of Danville, and the properly constituted guardians of the public interest, do hereby call upon you, in the name of Liberty and popular rights, forthwith to announce yourself in due form a candidate, and to publish

THE TRIBUNE.

A BABY COLONEL.—Punch says the Emperor of Russia has just made his grandson, a young prince of three months old, a Colonel of the Imperial Guard. Two have been appointed to assist the young officer. Mrs. Bishki to dress him, and Mrs. Tucker to nurse him. The regiment has adopted the uniform of the Colonel, viz: long petticoats, lace cap, and the national cockade. They look splendid in this uniform, though it rather impedes the movements of the troops on field days. The field officers of the regiment ride in superb gaiters. A splendid service of silver pop boats has been presented by the Colonel's Imperial Grandmother to the regimental mess. When the Col. cuts his first tooth he is to be advanced to the rank of Major-General; when he is weaned, he is to be made Field-Marshal. A batch of barley-sugar is preparing for his Imperial Highness, and the devoted subjects to the Emperor say he will make as good a Field-Marshal as a certain eminent and Royal warrior who enjoys the same rank in this country and who was seen at a late review reading the Orders of a paper on his saddle, and asking his Aides-de-Camp "What was to be done next?"

Gen. Cass's threatening but not fighting, is well illustrated in a scene in Romeo and Juliet, which Mr. Clark thus referred to in his speech to the Senate: "In a quarrel between the retainers of the rival houses of Montague and Capulet we have a fair example of this mode of warfare by proxy. 'Deep concern,' and not being 'indifferent to national injustice,' (preceded by an avowal that no force is contemplated,) is here well illustrated: 'Gregory. I will frown as I pass by; and let them take it as they list. 'Sampson. Nay, as they dare. I will bite my thumb at them; which is a disgrace to them, if they bear it. 'Abram. Do you bite your thumb at us sir? 'Sampson. Is the law on your side if I say aye? 'Gregory. No. 'Gregory. Do you quarrel, sir? 'Abram. Quarrel, sir? No, sir.'"
